

WANDERERS AWAY TO CASUALS

ONCE AGAIN Wycombe Wanderers will make the journey to Sandy Lane, Tooting, on Saturday where they are scheduled to meet Corinthian-Casuals.

The Wanderers should have met Casuals a few weeks ago but the match was called off because of a waterlogged pitch. Casuals, who are in the depths of the Isthmian League, should provide Wycombe with an opportunity to improve their goal average.

Their visit to Loskes Park this season was not without incident as Wanderers cracked eight past the Casual's 'keeper'. It is of paramount importance that Wycombe push ahead and notch as many goals as possible, for in the championship run-in goal average could decide the title.

It is just feasible that Wycombe could shock everyone and take the title although, at the moment, they are not playing with the hallmark of a championship side.

Nevertheless, Enfield, still hot favourites, are losing their grip. On Saturday they were defeated 2-1 at home by Leytonstone in a London Senior Cup-tie.

This does seem to indicate that the Enfield players are beginning to feel the strain of a long and arduous season which has seen them involved in many tough games involving all types of cup competitions.

That wily old manager of amateur soccer, Sid Cann, has brought his Sutton team to the peak just at the right moment.

At the beginning of the season Sutton looked a tired and struggling outfit but they have now timed their rise to perfection and are pushing hard for a league and Amateur Cup double.

The demanding Cann will expect both trophies and the odds are that at least one, if not two, will adorn the Sutton sideboard next season.

The next few weeks will be crucial in the race for the Isthmian title with Wycombe having a very large say in the final destination of the crown.

After all, they have yet to meet Enfield this season and should they catch the North London team on an off-day it would throw the championship wide open.

MARLOW have to travel to Edmonton with the knowledge